

TRACEABILITY WITHIN SUCDEN COFFEE VERIFIED: COFFEE IS TRACEABLE TO THE FARM OR PRODUCER GROUP

Volumes from different certificate holders may be mixed, but original production locations and mixing ratio must be documented (mixed identity preservation).

Sucden Coffee Verified volumes are kept physically separated from non-verified volumes throughout the supply chain. There is no mixing of verified and non-verified coffee.

Physical separation of verified and nonverified volumes at the level of producer, group, and intermediaries who transport coffee to collection centers is confirmed by the assurance provider as part of the verification process.

Sucden has implemented procedures at Sucden collection centers, processing facilities, and during downstream transportation to ensure separation of verified and non-verified volumes.

All Sucden Coffee Verified volumes are accompanied by documentation of the original production locations in line with geolocation requirements of the EU Deforestation Regulation.
